Bob Courtney took the oath of office Monday morning at Madison City Hall to serve the unexpired term of the late Madison Mayor Damon Welch.

The Republican Party's nominee for the post in next month's November General Election, Courtney was the only applicant for the interim spot when the Jefferson County Republican Party caucused Saturday to name a successor to Welch, who died unexpectedly Sept. 25 with just over three months left in his final term in office.

Voted on by the party's precinct committeemen from the voting locations in the City of Madison, Courtney was unanimously elected by his party.

"A lot of thoughts and prayer went into it, truthfully, and a lot of advice was sought," Courtney said of his decision to take on the office during the final month of a tough campaign against Democratic Party challenger Julie Berry.

"At the end of the day, leaders step up; they don't step aside. This is a time and a need for the city where I felt like it was my duty to lead the city through the balance of Mayor Welch's term. And honorably execute the void that he has left us."

Courtney promised to set aside the major initiatives he has campaigned on over the last year and work with Welch's team and city employees to push through the agenda Welch would have been working to complete in the final weeks of his term.

"About a year ago I announced my candidacy for mayor after Mayor Welch decided not to run for a third term. It's unfortunate that we find ourselves here today," Courtney told caucus members Saturday. "None of us expected that we'd be holding and participating in a caucus today to elect an interim mayor. I certainly did not think that I would take office prior to Jan. 1, 2020. But as a candidate who has been working hard — working with you as well as other members and community leaders — I've been on the trail actively pursuing the office of mayor for the past year.

"If I'm elected today to serve out Mayor Welch's term I will do so in his honor. I will make sure I work well with his staff and the city employees to execute the initiatives that Mayor Welch and his team already had in place as well as those things that I know Mayor Welch and I had in common," Courtney said.

"I will not submit any of the major initiatives that I have been promoting throughout my candidacy until after the election and until after the voters decide. I will continue to work hard to win the office of mayor on Nov. 5 and I believe I will be successful, but today I'd like your support to become the interim mayor of Madison."

Republican Party members had a moment of silence in honor of Welch before Saturday's business at the Red Bicycle Hall in downtown Madison and then quickly took care of the vote. They greeted both Courtney's application and unanimous ballot with loud applause even though Courtney was solemn throughout and a bit emotional after the vote.

"What an honor," Courtney said, pausing to wipe a tear from his right eye, "not only to grow up in a community like Madison but for a kid from Walnut Street to have a community wrap its arms around me like it has my entire life. It literally has been the best honor of my life."

Whether that honor will extend beyond Dec. 31, 2019 — the date when Welch's term ends — or Courtney will merely occupy the seat until the city's voters decide his fate will depend on the outcome of the November general election. Voters throughout the city go to the polls on Tuesday, Nov. 5 but some ballots have already been cast since absentee ballots were mailed last month and early voting began Oct. 8.

"There are things that Mayor Welch and I certainly had in common and I will work with his team on those, but our priority is going to be working on the things that he had already in place with his team that hadn't been completed yet," Courtney said, "The city does need an executive. They need somebody, and I think I can fill that with my experience to just help guide the process through the balance of the year."

"I wish him, and the City of Madison, well," Berry said. "We are looking forward to all voters making their decision on Nov. 5."

"I never wanted these circumstances to occur at all," Courtney said. "We're going to continue to campaign hard to win the office on Nov. 5. What I will do over the course of the next few months is finish out Mayor Welch's term and do it in his honor."

S.R. 62 section named in honor of Jim Pendleton

By COLLIN OVERTON

Friends, family, state politicians and former colleagues of the late James "Jim" C. Pendleton Sr. filled the Indiana Department of Transportation station inside the former Jefferson Proving Grounds Saturday for the dedication of a section of highway in Pendleton's name.

The Indiana General Assembly approved a resolution naming a section of S.R. 62 from U.S. 421 to Canaan for Pendleton, a combat veteran and longtime Jefferson County government official who died in 2017.

Pendleton received the Purple Heart, Bronze Star and Silver Star for his service during World War II, served as an at-large county commissioner and was a member of the board of directors of the Community Foundation of Madison and Jefferson County.

One of Pendleton's daughters, Barbara Pietrangelo, along with District 67 Rep. Randy Frye (R-Oldenburg) and District 45 Sen. Chris Garten (R-Charlestown) attended the ceremony.

"Indiana is so blessed with Hoosiers like Jim Pendleton. These are American heroes. These are people who gave their lives, served their nation... but after Jim came home, he continued to give back to his community and state and his nation," Garten said.

Frye spoke of Pendleton's character.

"He was an American hero, but he was also a fantastic neighbor, citizen, public servant, dad, grandpa and husband. He was the epitome of what we want all of our citizens to be," Frye said.

James Pendleton's daughter, Barbara Pietrangelo, District 67 Rep. Randy Frye (center) and District 45 Sen. Chris Garten stand next to the sign soon to hang on S.R. 62 in Pendleton's honor.

Roof collapses during Sunday church fire in Indianapolis

Indiana

INDIANAPOLIS — Members of an Indianapolis church scrambled to get out of the building when a fire broke out during an adult Sunday school lesson. Some people believed the odor was from the kitchen or the furnace at Bethany Rembrandt Church. But then smoke emerged in the sanctuary. About 20 of the church's 100 members were in the building at the time. Authorities say the roof collapsed, causing damage worth $100,000. No one was injured. Battalion Chief Rita Reith said the fire remains under investigation.

White Lodging founder gives $16M to schools

MERRILLVILLE — A hotel entrepreneur is donating $16 million to Catholic schools in northwestern Indiana. The gift from White Lodging founder Bruce White and his wife, Beth, is to boost access to technology, curriculum support and financial aid through a new community partner. The (Northwest Indiana) Times reported that the Big Shoulders Fund in Chicago will provide support to help make those efforts possible in northern Lake County's Catholic schools, aiming to first serve families in Gary, Hammond and East Chicago. The Bruce and Beth White Family Foundation's gift is expected to bring operational and academic support directly to 10 elementary and high schools in the Diocese of Gary, benefiting about 3,300 students.

2 people shot near party in Bloomington

BLOOMINGTON — A man and woman were shot in the area of a large party in Bloomington early Sunday. Police said an officer on patrol heard numerous gunshots and saw several hundred people fleeing a party. Officers and other first-responders found and aided a 23-year-old man who was shot once and an 18-year-old woman shot twice. Both were listed in stable condition at a hospital. Police said officers chased a man running with a handgun. Gabriel Alsman, 20, who was arrested, is accused of resisting law enforcement, criminal recklessness with a firearm and marijuana possession. Investigators said the gun he had was reported stolen. Officers said there was more than one shooter, but offered no information on additional suspects.

Records to be held in IU student killing

BLOOMINGTON — Indiana's public access counselor has ruled that state police can withhold records in an Indiana University student's unsolved 1977 slaying because they remain part of an ongoing investigation. Ann Harmeier, 20, was a sophomore when she was abducted, raped and killed in Morgan County in September 1977 after her car broke down along State Road 37 near Martinsville. Forty-two years later, no arrests have been made. Indiana State Police have twice denied requests by Harmeier's cousin, Scott Burnham, to release their case records. The Herald-Times reported state public access counselor Luke Britt sided with police in an opinion Thursday, finding that the records can be withheld because they're part of an ongoing investigation. Burnham said police "have gone to great lengths to steadfastly ignore and stonewall our family."

State urged not to shut bridge for repair

NEW ALBANY — Southern Indiana officials are urging Indiana's transportation department not to fully close down an Ohio River bridge during repairs. Local leaders, members of business groups and local colleges shared their concerns Thursday about the Sherman Minton Bridge during a closed meeting with the Indiana Department of Transportation's commissioner. New Albany City Councilman Al Knable said local officials stressed during the meeting that the region cannot afford a full closure of the bridge, which links New Albany and Louisville. The News and Tribune reported that work on an estimated $90 million to $105 million in repairs is expected to begin in early 2021. Indiana's options include fully closing the bridge for 15 to 23 months, keeping it partly open or alternating open lanes between morning and evening.

2 environmental groups merge, plan health push

INDIANAPOLIS — Two longtime Indiana environmental groups have merged and drafted plans for a refocused mission on children's environmental and health initiatives. The Hoosier Environmental Council and Improving Kids' Environment announced their merger Thursday. Both Indianapolis-based nonprofits will come under the banner of the Hoosier Environmental Council, which has been Indiana's leading environmental health advocate for more than 36 years. Improving Kids' Environment worked for two decades to reduce toxic risks to Indiana children from lead, pesticides and other sources.

Tax abatement loss threatens solar farm

ANDERSON — Officials in a central Indiana county have rejected a tax abatement for a proposed solar farm, putting the $110 million project in jeopardy. The Madison County Council voted 4-3 Tuesday to deny the Lone Oak Solar Energy Center's request for a traditional 10-year tax abatement. The proposed solar farm in northern Madison County would generate 120 megawatts of electricity, but officials with developer Invenergy said that not obtaining the tax abatement could make the project financially impossible. The Herald Bulletin reported that company officials say the tax abatement would have saved the company $5 million in personal property taxes over the 10 years. Project manager Katya Samoteskul told council members it also would have reduced the cost of the electricity to a potential buyer of the solar farm's power.

Charged in sex sting after hundred-mile walk

INDIANAPOLIS — A 32-year-old faces federal charges alleging he walked hundreds of miles from central Indiana to Wisconsin to have sex with someone he thought was a 14-year-old girl. The Indianapolis Star cited a Department of Justice statement Friday as saying the person posing as a girl named "Kylee" was a sheriff's deputy working with the FBI in a sting. It said Tommy Lee Jenkins, of Whitestown, Indiana, began communicating online Oct. 1, thinking Kylee lived 350 miles away with her mom in Neenah, Wisconsin. After deciding to walk, he allegedly sent selfies and photos of exit signs to show he was getting closer. He was arrested in Winnebago County, Wisconsin.

College ends 187-year sheepskin diploma tradition

CRAWFORDSVILLE — A private liberal arts college in western Indiana is ending its 187-year-old tradition of printing diplomas on sheepskin, citing increasing prices for the material and deteriorating quality. The announcement by Wabash College in Crawfordsville leaves only Virginia Military Institute in offering the specialty diplomas. Wabash College President Gregory Hess told students Tuesday about the decision. Administrators said the decision was made in April because the quality of sheepskin diplomas was worsening while the prices were increasing.

Officials confirm whooping cough in public schools

LEXINGTON — Health officials have confirmed two cases of whooping cough at Kentucky schools. Lexington-Fayette County health officials said Friday that the latest case of the highly contagious respiratory disease whose medical name is pertussis was reported at Frederick Douglass High School in Lexington. The Lexington Herald-Leader reported it's the second case of pertussis discovered in the Fayette County Public Schools district this academic year and the eighth case in Lexington in 2019. The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention said pertussis is spread through coughing and sneezing.

Kentucky Downs expansion, renovation

FRANKLIN — Kentucky Downs racetrack in southern Kentucky will begin the first of three phases in the coming weeks, investing approximately $25 million to add 18,000 square feet. A track statement said that the new building will feature more gambling and more food, beverage and entertainment options. The first phase is scheduled to be finished before the 2020 live race meet begins in early September. The project will nearly double the gambling operation, housing 1,200 historical racing terminals, up from its current 753. The track said planning is still underway for second and third phases. Kentucky Downs LLC purchased Kentucky Downs earlier this year from an investment group that bought the track in 2007.

Woman found dead burned in S. C. ditch

CHESTER, South Carolina — Authorities have identified a burned body found in a South Carolina ditch as that of a Kentucky woman. News outlets reported the sheriff's office of Chester County, South Carolina, identified the woman as Melissa I. Whitis, 31, of Frankfort. Authorities didn't release a cause of death. A sheriff's office statement released last week said Whitis' body was found Sept. 20, about 100 miles from where she's believed to have been in North Carolina three days earlier. WBTV-TV reported it took about 20 days for authorities to identify Whitis.

Woman charged in parking garage slaying

FRANKFORT — A Kentucky woman has pleaded not guilty to complicity to murder charges in the slaying of a man killed in a Frankfort parking garage. The State Journal reported Nena M. Washington, 39, also pleaded not guilty to animal cruelty charges Friday in Franklin County Circuit Court. She is the second person charged in the Sept. 4 killing of Coty Brumback, 24. Police said Antonio Bolling, 40, had argued with Brumback and then shot Brumback's dog and then Brumback. Bolling has pleaded not guilty to murder charges. Washington was taken into custody by Frankfort police Sept. 20 and is in the Franklin County Regional Jail on a $100,000 full-cash bond. Under Kentucky law, complicity carries the same potential penalty as committing the crime.

Ex-county judge-exec pleads in $38K theft

FRANKFORT — A former Kentucky county judge-executive has pleaded guilty to stealing more than $38,000 in state grant money. A statement from Attorney General Andy Beshear said Wallace Taylor, 57, accepted a deal Friday and pleaded guilty to one count of abuse of public trust under $10,000, a Class D felony. News outlets reported Taylor served as Estill County judge-executive for 15 years. The statement said that from December 2016 through March 2017, Taylor stole more than $38,000 in state grant money that belonged to the county. Taylor received a three-year sentence that will be probated for five years. He will also have to pay Estill County $38,850.

Police arrest man after slaying, kidnapping

EMINENCE — Law enforcement officials said a man being sought after a slaying and kidnapping has been taken into custody. Shelby County Sheriff Mark Moore told news outlets that Terry Whitehouse, 37, was found Friday afternoon near a wooded area in Henry County. His wife, Melinda, 34, was found safe. Whitehouse had released his mother-in-law a day earlier and she asked police to check on her husband. Eminence police Sgt. John Bailey said an officer performing a welfare check discovered a man dead from severe head trauma early Thursday morning. Whitehouse had recently been arrested for violating an emergency protection order and was released from Shelby County Detention Center on Wednesday.

State Police trooper killed in crash

COURIER STAFF REPORT

Indiana State Police are investigating a single-vehicle crash Friday night that killed one of its own, Trooper Peter R. Stephan, 27, of Lafayette.

Stephan was northbound on Old State Road 25 to assist another officer when his car entered a curve, left the east side of the roadway, rolled at least one time and struck a utility pole, state police said in a news release. Stephan sustained fatal injuries and was dead at the scene.

The Tippecanoe County Sheriff Department, White County Sheriff Department, Tippecanoe County EMS, Lafayette Fire Department, Buck Creek Fire Department, Tipmont REMC and troopers from neighboring Indiana State Police Districts assisted at the scene.

"This is a tremendously sad day for the entire Indiana State Police family. We will band together as we always do in support of Trooper Stephan's family, friends and co-workers," said Indiana State Police Supt. Douglas G. Carter.

The news release said Stephans had served with the state police for four years.

He is survived by his wife and 6-month-old daughter. ISP has set up an account through Old National Bank to accept donations on their behalf.

Indiana lawmakers likely to revisit vaping in 2020 session

By MEREDITH COLIAS-PETE
(Merrillville) Post-Tribune

Lawmakers will likely take another look at taxing vaping liquids when they return to Indianapolis in January.

So far, Indiana has reported three deaths from lung damage due to vaping — including two confirmed Thursday by the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention. In total, 75 patient cases are under review — 30 cases definitely linked with 45 more suspected, state authorities said.

A pre-session study committee is looking again how Indiana could set up a non-sales tax, said Sen. Ed Charbonneau, R-Valparaiso. A proposal he sponsored to tax vaping liquids failed last session. He would also support raising both smoking and vaping ages to 21, although he needed to look at the specifics of how any legislation worked.

Banning vaping altogether would do more harm than good, pushing that business further onto unregulated black markets, said Sen. Karen Tallian, D-Portage.

"What I'm afraid of is that we are going to have some knee-jerk reaction, when it really needs to be about guidelines, labeling and regulation," she said.

For the past several years, Tallian has pushed to legalize marijuana and proposed creating a regulatory commission for cannabis and THC-related products, saying they should be treated like alcohol.

"Nobody dies from moonshine anymore," she said. "We have alcohol regulated from every step of the growing process to the sale."

New restrictions at the local, state and federal level are poised to wipe out thousands of fruit-, candy- and dessert-flavored vapes that have attracted teens. But experts who study tobacco policy fear the scattershot approach of the clampdown could have damaging, unintended consequences, including driving adults who vape back to cigarette smoking, which remains the nation's leading preventable cause of death.

The FDA has had the authority to ban vaping flavors since 2016, but has previously resisted calls to take that step. Agency officials instead said they were studying if flavors could help smokers quit traditional cigarettes.

But parents, teachers and health advocates have increasingly called for a crackdown on flavors, arguing that they are overwhelmingly to blame for the explosion in underage vaping by U.S. teens, particularly with small, discrete devices such as Juul's.

Juul devices went on sale in 2015, and the company quickly propelled itself to the top of the market with a combination of high-nicotine pods, dessert and fruit flavors, and viral marketing. The San Francisco company now controls roughly 70% of the U.S. e-cigarette market.

Indiana's 2018 Youth Tobacco Survey concluded e-cigarette use jumped 387% in high schools and 358% in middle schoolers from 2012. Around 35,000 kids started using e-cigarettes from 2016 to 2018, according to the report.

"The whole concept of vaping originally was that it would be a means for smokers to stop smoking," Charbonneau said. "It's questionable at this point if it is doing that, if it is just creating a next generation of smokers."

On Wednesday, Lake County Commissioners voted to ban vaping inside and within 15 feet of the county government complex in Crown Point, bringing it up to date with its smoking policy.

Councilman Charlie Brown, D-Gary, a former state lawmaker, said vaping should have stricter regulations, but the county only has the power to regulate what happens on its property.

State lawmakers couldn't reach agreement this spring on a proposal to tax liquids used in electronic cigarettes. Leaders say they hope a committee can determine how taxes could be imposed.

Last session, the House approved a 4 cents per-milliliter liquid tax, while the Senate endorsed a 20% tax on the price of vaping liquids, which was cut to 5% and dropped altogether on the session's last day.

As of Oct. 8, there were 1,299 reported cases of vaping-related illness and 26 deaths in 21 states and the U.S. Virgin Islands, according to the CDC, not reflecting the two latest Indiana deaths.

Of those hospitalized, 70% are male, 80% are under 35 with 15% under 18, according to the CDC. Reported cases began to grow in late June and appeared to spike starting in late July.

Other states are looking at their own solutions. Eight states and Washington, D.C., currently have non-sales taxes on vaping, while three more, including Illinois, allow cities to set their own taxes, according to the D.C.-based Tax Foundation.

Last month, Michigan Gov. Gretchen Whitmer ordered the state health department to issue emergency rules that will prohibit the sale of flavored nicotine vaping products, including to adults, and the misleading marketing of e-cigarettes.

Public health investigators are continuing to search for possible causes to vaping-related lung damage.

The vaping cartridges that go by the catchy, one-syllable name "Dank" — a slang word for highly potent cannabis — are figuring prominently in the federal investigation to determine what has caused a rash of mysterious and sometimes fatal lung illnesses apparently linked to vaping. Most of the cases have involved products that contain the marijuana compound THC, often obtained from illegal sources.

So far, investigators have not identified a culprit in the illnesses reported in dozens of states. But officials say patients have mentioned the Dank name frequently. Many of the people who got sick in Illinois and Wisconsin, for example, said they used cartridges sold in Dank packaging.

Last month, Wisconsin authorities uncovered an illegal vaping-cartridge operation that they said was producing thousands of cartridges loaded with THC oil every day for almost two years. Photographs released by the Kenosha County Sheriff's Department showed neatly stacked Dank boxes and cartridges, apparently ready for shipment.

The raw materials to produce a Dank vape aren't hard to find: Ready-to-fill Dank boxes and cartridges can be ordered from Chinese internet sites for pennies apiece. A Craigslist post last week offered a box stuffed with empty Dank packages for $16.

A rogue producer adds cannabis oil — almost certainly untested — and it's ready for sale.

"It's a generic product name that doesn't really tie back to one store or one distributor," Dr. Jennifer Layden, chief medical officer for the Illinois Department of Public Health told the Associated Press. "Folks are getting it from friends or folks on the street, with no understanding of where it came from prior to that."

Elkhart County resident dies from EEE virus; first human case in Indiana since 1988

From the Goshen News

INDIANAPOLIS — The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention has confirmed to Indiana health officials that a person in Elkhart County contracted eastern equine encephalitis, or EEE, a rare virus transmitted by mosquitoes. The patient died as a result of the infection. The identity of the person was not revealed.

This is the first human case in Indiana since 1998 and only the fourth reported since 1964, according to the health department. The CDC said approximately 5 to 10 human cases of EEE are reported nationwide each year, typically from late spring through early fall. Nearly one-third of human cases are fatal.

"It's hard to imagine losing a loved one because of a mosquito bite, but unfortunately, mosquitoes carry diseases that can be life-threatening," said State Health Commissioner Kris Box, M.D.. "This is a tragic loss for an Indiana family."

EEE has been found in more than a dozen horses and one mosquito sample in northern Indiana this year. County commissioners in Elkhart, LaGrange and Noble counties declared health emergencies earlier this month, which allowed the aerial spraying of insecticides to kill mosquitoes in areas where they breed.

Although mosquito activity decreases with cooler temperatures, the risk of mosquito-borne diseases will not be eliminated until the first hard freeze occurs.

State health officials urge Hoosiers to continue to take steps to prevent mosquito bites until then:

• Avoid being outdoors when mosquitoes are active (especially late afternoon, dusk to dawn and early morning)

• Use an EPA-registered insect repellent containing DEET, picaridin, IR3535, oil of lemon eucalyptus or para-menthane-diol on clothes and exposed skin

• Cover exposed skin by wearing a hat, long sleeves and long pants in places where mosquitoes are especially active, such as wooded areas

• Install or repair screens on windows and doors to keep mosquitoes out of your home

Hoosiers also are encouraged to eliminate mosquito breeding sites by doing the following:

• Discard old tires, tin/aluminum cans, ceramic pots or other containers that can hold water

• Repair failed septic systems

• Drill holes in the bottom of recycling containers left outdoors

• Keep grass cut short and shrubbery trimmed

• Clean clogged roof gutters, particularly if leaves tend to plug up the drains

• Frequently replace the water in pet bowls

• Flush ornamental fountains and birdbaths periodically

• Aerate ornamental pools or stock them with predatory fish

Health officials said the symptoms of EEE virus disease include chills, fever, body aches and joint pain. Some people develop a more severe form of the disease that affects the nervous system and causes encephalitis or inflammation of the brain. People who are younger than 15 years and older than 50 years are at the greatest risk of severe disease if infected with EEE virus. People who think they may have EEE virus disease should see a health care provider.

181st Intelligence Wing makes history

First woman wing commander in Indiana Air Guard

(Terre Haute) Tribune-Star

A longtime member of the 181st Intelligence Wing has made history as the first woman appointed as a wing commander in the Indiana Air National Guard.

Col. Tamala A. Saylor was installed as wing commander of the 181st Intelligence Wing during a recent change of command ceremony at Hulman Field Air National Guard Base in Terre Haute.

Saylor has been with the 181st for all but two of the last 22 years and replaces outgoing wing commander Col. Christopher Alderdice, who assumed command in February 2017.

"Having this opportunity as the first female wing commander in Indiana, specifically, here at the 181st, is an honor, a privilege and exciting," Saylor said in a news release from the 181st.

Saylor has held multiple positions both within the Indiana Air National Guard and at a national level throughout her career. Her previous duty assignment was chief of staff at the Air National Guard Readiness Center in Washington.

Saylor started her military career at the 122nd Fighter Wing, Indiana Air National Guard, Fort Wayne, as an enlisted member in June 1983 and attained the rank of Master Sergeant in August 1992.

She earned her commission as a Second Lieutenant in February 1997 from the Academy of Military Science and transferred to the 181st Fighter Wing, Indiana Air National Guard, Terre Haute.

Since earning her commission, she has served as the 181st Intelligence Wing's budget officer, comptroller, comptroller flight commander, mission support flight commander, director of personnel, and vice wing commander.

She has also been recognized with a number of awards throughout her career, including: Meritorious Service Medal with two devices, Air Force Commendation Medal with three devices, Army Commendation Medal with one device, Air Force Achievement Medal, Air Force Outstanding Unit Award, Air Force Outstanding Unit Award with one device, National Defense Service Medal with one device, Global War on Terrorism, and Air Force Longevity Service Award with six devices, as well as numerous Indiana National Guard awards.

As the new wing commander, Saylor emphasized that every airman plays a key in the mission success.

"One of the things I want to accomplish as wing commander is making sure that every airman here at the 181st understands that they're a key component to what happens here," Saylor said. "Every role is vital to us being able to accomplish the mission."

Looking ahead, Saylor said its important the wing stays on the cutting edge.

"We constantly need to evolve and keep up with the times," Saylor said, "I look forward to being a part of that, and getting to be out here with the great 'Racers' and propelling us into the future."

Last phase of S.R.7 work now to begin on Tuesday

COURIER STAFF REPORT

The road work on State moves to final location Tuesday in Jennings County.

Months of culvert work on S.R. 7 in Jennings County will enter its final phase later this week when contractors begin replacing the fourth and final box culvert between Vernon and the Jefferson County line.

The road will be closed to through traffic 5.71 miles north of the Jefferson-Jennings county line Tuesday, weather permitting, just south of the of S.R. 3 and S.R. 7 junction near Vernon for box culvert maintenance and repair.

At the same time, the Indiana Department of Transportation will re-open S.R. 7 at the previous culvert replacement location where crews have been working since mid-September.

The official state detour for the closure is S.R. 3 to S.R. 256. Motorists are encouraged to plan ahead and use caution near the work zone. The project is expected to be complete by Oct. 31.

Dave O'Mara Contractor Inc. was awarded the project for $1.4 million in August 2018, with work beginning in late July 2019.

Notre Dame to host 2020 debate

South Bend Tribune

SOUTH BEND — The University of Notre Dame will host the first of three debates between the Democratic and Republican nominees for president in the 2020 general election.

The debate is scheduled for Sept. 29 in Purcell Pavilion at the Joyce Center, ahead of the Nov. 3, 2020 election.

Tickets will be limited and the university's president, the Rev. John Jenkins, said he wasn't sure who would be allowed in.

It was unclear who might be allowed to attend the debate.

The Joyce Center seats 9,149, but the stage configuration likely would significantly decrease that number.

"It will require pretty elaborate security precautions and preparation," Jenkins said.

"The tickets are very limited and we haven't determined about distribution of tickets."

Since 2000, all presidential general election debates have been hosted by universities.

The other two sites for the 2020 presidential debates will be Belmont University in Nashville, Tennessee, and the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor.

The nonpartisan, nonprofit commission said it will announce the format of each debate next year.

While there is still a long way to go, South Bend Mayor Pete Buttigieg is among a pack of Democrats seeking to challenge President Donald Trump in the 2020 General Election.

Madison beats Scottsburg in OT to win first sectional championship in 9 years

Zach Forner was the hero of Madison's semifinal soccer win on Wednesday. He was more than happy to have somebody else claim that honor in Saturday's championship.

Carson Denton scored a goal from the right side four minutes into the second overtime to lift Madison to an exciting 2-1 win over Scottsburg in the championship game of the Class 2A Boys Soccer Sectional at home on Saturday.

The victory earned the Cubs their first sectional title in nine years and capped a sectional in which all but one game went into overtime and five of the seven ended in a shootout.

"(Going to a shootout) was going through my mind the whole time. The whole time," said Forner, who stopped two shots in Madison's semifinal shootout win. "But Carson came through in the end."

Denton's goal came at just the right time. While Madison dominated the shots, 19-10, the Cubs had a hard time shaking a Scottsburg team whose only previous loss of the season was to

Rebels fall 5-0 to JCD in sectional

By ROB LAFARY

OSGOOD — Southwestern faced the tall task of upsetting sectional favorite Jac-Cen-Del but the ninth-ranked Eagles proved too strong, defeating the Rebels 5-0 in the IHSAA Class A Boys Soccer Sectional 45 championship on Saturday afternoon.

Jac-Cen-Del (16-1-2) controlled from the get-go despite Southwestern's best efforts. The Rebels never gained momentum for 80 minutes while the Eagles picked up steam and never looked back.

"It's a core group and they (Jac-Cen-Del) are a very good team," Southwestern head coach Kevin Dillman said. "It was hard to keep up today. We played awfully hard but at the end of the day they are just a really good team."

Southwestern managed just one shot in the first half while Jac-Cen-Del was able to shake free for 19 with six on goal. Early on the Rebels held their own but near the midway mark of the opening half the Eagles finally broke through and got on the scoreboard. Jordan Meyer took a pass from Tim Defranne and scored the first goal with 24:30 remaining and Defranne again came up big, pushing a ball to Patrick Wagner for a goal with only 10 seconds left.

Jac-Cen-Del led 2-0 at halftime but the advantage still seemed too large to overcome. While Southwestern spent the first 16 minutes going toe-to-toe, the Rebels were quickly overwhelmed by the Eagles, who managed to overpower in every phase of the game.

"We were trying to push up on defense and keep them on their side of the field," Dillman said. "Once they (Jac-Cen-Del) made good touches they got inside the 18 and once a team gets inside the 18 it's hard to stop. They got some good bounces and were able to get off some good shots. It's a dangerous situation and they were able

Madison in late August.

Gonzalo Lobato put Madison ahead 1-0 when he took a cross pass from Will Heitz and fired over goalie Jamison Hale's head from 15-yards out in the 28th minute.

But Scottsburg (12-2-2) opened the second half with its strongest surge and tied the game in the 45th minute after the Warriors beat Madison on a corner kick when Noah Smith slammed the ball into the net.

"Those set pieces have been our Achilles' heel all season," Madison coach Kyle Bipes said. "That's something we need to work on."

Madison regained control of the game over the final 20 minutes but couldn't put the winner into the net. Once the game went to overtime, it seemed likely the contest would be decided by another shootout. After the first OT expired, it seemed inevitable.

But Madison found new life in the third minute of the second OT and Denton finally put the Cubs ahead when he beat a drawn-out Hale and fired a shot from the right side that slammed into the far corner and set off a wild celebration.

"I heard Will calling for it at the top of the 18, but I saw a gap and I went for it," Denton said.

But there is no golden goal in high school soccer and the Cubs still needed to survive four more minutes in order to secure the win. That's where goalkeeper Forner came up big for a second straight game.

Determined to keep its season alive, Scottsburg relentlessly attacked the Madison goal and seemed to get the equalizer on a shot that made it past two Cub defenders. Forner, who was momentarily out of position, somehow dived to his right and got just enough hand on the ball to bat it away.

Forner admitted later that he never saw the ball coming.

"It was a great save. I don't know if he saw it or he just fell in front of it," Bipes said. "But it saved us."

The save, with just over a minute left, proved to be the game-clincher. Madison was able to clear the ball and play keep away for the final 75 seconds to finally secure the win.

"I'm just speechless, especially coming in my senior year," Denton said of the win. "Especially the way it ended, in double overtime. Just speechless."

"I said in July that there was no way that this team was going to win three games. We had a brand-new defense and a bunch of young guys. I had three freshmen play over 70 minutes today. You just don't win sectionals playing freshmen," said Bipes, soaking wet from a celebratory water cooler bath by his players. "But, these boys bought in and they worked hard all year and finally, after nine years, we can add another trophy. It feels great."

While Madison held a 19-10 advantage in overall shots, the Cubs only led 10-9 in shots on goal. Scottsburg had four corner kicks to two by Madison while the Cubs had 14 fouls to 13 by the Warriors. Madison was also issued three yellow cards in the game and Scottsburg received one.

Both Forner and Hale stopped eight shots in goal for their respective teams and made several outstanding saves.

Madison (11-6-2) will now head to the regional round for the first time since 2010 to face West Vigo (10-6-3) in the semifinals at 10 a.m. on Saturday at Heritage Hills High School in Santa Claus. The second semifinal will feature a powerhouse matchup between second-ranked Evansville Memorial (13-3-2) and No. 4 Washington (16-3-1). The championship is set for 7 p.m.

Madison falls 40-0 to New Albany

Cubs held to less than 200 yards in 40-0 loss

Madison rode running back Trenton Barnes to nearly a school record for rushing attempts but it still didn't result in any points as the Cubs dropped a 40-0 Hoosier Hills Conference shutout to New Albany at home on Friday.

Barnes, who had missed last week's game with an injury, carried the ball 33 times and racked up 150 total rushing yards. But the Cubs couldn't capitalize, turning the ball over on downs inside the five twice to lose their fourth HHC game of the season.

"That's been our theme for a lot of games this year," Madison coach Leroy Wilson said. "Twice we're inside the five in the first half and we can't finish. This is a different game if we can finish. It's frustrating for an offense to be able to move the ball the way we do and not come away with points.

Madison (1-7, 1-4 HHC) was held to just 55 total yards last week in a loss to Jeffersonville but surpassed that total on its first drive Friday thanks to a long run by Barnes. But despite getting a first and goal from the New Albany 8-yard line, the Cubs failed to score and turned the ball over on downs 4 yards later.

New Albany (3-5, 2-3 HHC) took advantage of Madison's inability to score by getting on the board on the last play of the first quarter when quarterback Kyondre Winburn hit Tim Johnson on a 51-yard scoring play and DeJon Winburn ripped off a 58-yard touchdown run early in the second quarter for a 14-0 lead.

Madison had a golden chance to cut into the lead just before halftime but once again the Cubs were stopped on a fourth down, this time on the 2-yard line as the sky opened up with sheets of heavy rain.

Madison had few chances in the second half to score. Meanwhile, New Albany added four scores in the second half on runs of one-, 14- and 3-yards by Myles Johnson, and a one-yard run by Elijah Jennings for the final score.

Barnes accounted for 161 of Madison's 179 total yards in the game and caught the Cubs' lone completed pass for 11 yards. Wilson was thrilled to have his junior star back in the lineup.

"It's a huge difference having him out there," Wilson said. "The offensive line played extremely well and the key was that we were able to run the ball. That's how we want to play and we were able to do that tonight."

New Albany finished the game with 370 total yards, led by Myles Johnson, who had 110 yards on 20 carrties. Winburn had 81 yards on 3-of-7 passing.

Madison wraps up the regular season on Friday when the Cubs travel to Columbus East. The Olympians beat Seymour 14-7 on Friday to clinch a share of their 16th-straight HHC championship. It was also East's 100th-straight victory over conference opponents.

Switzerland loses 58-0 at No. 10 North Decatur

Class A No. 10 North Decatur clinched the 2019 Mid-Indiana Football Conference championship with a 58-0 win over Switzerland County at home on Friday.

The Pacers, now 5-3 overall and 2-2 in the MIFC, host Milan in their regular season finale next week.

Pacers fall 3-0 in final to Twisters

By DAVID CAMPBELL
Courier Staff Writer
dcampbell@madisoncourier.com

RISING SUN — Switzerland County's girls held off Oldenburg for as long as they could, but in the end the powerful Twisters were too much to contain en route to third-straight Class A Girls Soccer Sectional Championship 3-0 on Saturday.

Oldenburg, ranked 13th in the state, held an overwhelming 29-3 advantage in shots, including 15-2 on goal. The Twisters also attempted 11 corner kicks to none by the Pacers.

But Switzerland County stayed in the match until the end, thanks to a bend, but not break defense, and a will to fight until the final buzzer.

"The girls left it all on the field tonight and I was proud of them. The parents are proud, the coaches are proud," Switzerland coach Tully Anderson said. "We knew what we were going up against. This is a perfect example of kids that play year-around and starting next year, Switzerland County is going to be this type of team. There is no where to go from here but up.

"We know what it's like to face teams like this and it used to be, 'who's going to get beat 9-0?" Anderson added. "But we showed them that the ORVC is getting stronger. The conference sent their best team up against them and we held them close. We just couldn't get any breaks."

Oldenburg (10-4-2) scored what proved to be the only goal it needed just three minutes into the match when Leila Savage hammered a shot that bounced off goalie Deanna Voris' hands and into the net for a 1-0 lead.

The Twisters added onto that score 16 minutes later when Savage scored again, this time collecting a rebound off of Voris and sending it home.

The score stayed 2-0 until late in the second half but Switzerland was unable to chip away. Forced to counter Oldenburg's quick-strike front line, the Pacers spent nearly the entire game on defense.

"We knew that they attacked a lot down the middle and after the first goal we put an extra defender in which takes away from our offense," Anderson said.

Oldenburg broke through for the final goal in the 67th minute when Grace Mack scored from out of a scrum in front of the net.

Voris spent most of the game fending off Twister attacks and finished the game with 12 saves. Her counterpart, Molly Wachsmann, needed only two stops to record the shutout.

Switzerland ended its season with a 9-4-4 record. The Pacers graduate five seniors: Matty Anderson, Allie Bruce, Kayla Scranton, Voris and Kaitlyn Yeary.

Switzerland will also lose coach Tully Anderson, Matty Anderson's father, who announced after the game that he was retiring.

"Whoever takes over this program will be blessed. We've got great kids, the players moving up are awesome," Anderson said. "When I took over, it was still a lot of 'kick ball' and we had to break loose from a lot of habits. Our SAY program is in great shape, our middle school program went undefeated. We're teaching soccer the way it's supposed to be played. It's not the most exciting, but we'll take 1-0 wins."

Oldenburg plays No. 7 Providence (9-4-4) at the Forest Park Regional on Saturday. No. 11 Vincennes Rivet (12-6-1) meets No. 9 Evansville Day (14-2-1) in the other semifinal.

Cross Country Sectional

Southwestern boys, Madison girls qualify for regional

By DAVID CAMPBELL
Courier Staff Writer
dcampbell@madisoncourier.com

Southwestern's boys and Madison's girls, along with nine individuals from local schools, qualified for the next round with strong runs at Saturday's IHSAA Cross Country Sectional at Hanover College.

Southwestern's boys scored 89 points and placed third while Madison's girls were fourth with 98 points. The top five teams in each race earn a spot at regional.

In addition, the top 10 runners not on advancing teams also qualify for regional. The local group was led by Shawe freshman Calli Alderman, who followed up her Ohio River Valley Conference championship a week ago by placing second in the girls race in 20:25.0 behind a 19:56.3 by Jennings County senior Emma Morrison, won the race in.

"At the halfway mark Calli was in third place behind last year's sectional winner (Kaylyn Holman of Crothersville) and runnerup (Emma Morrison of Jennings County)," Shawe coach Jim Leveille said. "She ran a smart race, maintained her gap going into the last half mile then came on strong to move into second, besting her last weekend's time by 24 seconds. Calli as a freshman is still learning, but she's learning fast."

Southwestern's boys won their fifth-straight ORVC title last week but knew winning a first sectional title was a long-shot at best but the Rebels' third-place finish still impressed.

Powerhouse Jennings County swept the top five spots for a perfect 15 points and Austin was second with 55. After Southwestern's 89, Silver Creek was fourth with 120 points and Scottsburg was fifth with 159 as all qualified for regional. Madison was seventh with 188 points and neither Shawe nor Switzerland County fielded complete teams.

Carter Leak led Jennings' sweep at the front with a winning time of 16:17.6 in the boys race while teammate Gavin Hendrix ran second in 16:19.6.

Trevor Smith led Southwestern with a 12th-place finish in 17:32.1. The rest of the Rebels were: Gavyn Mundt, 15th, 17:46.5; Caleb Geary, 17th, 17:51.9; Brandon Smith, 22nd, 18:20.9; Colton Cloud, 26th, 18:31.7; Matthew Williams, 31st, 18:47.4; and Lane Coles, 55th, 20:34.0.

Three of Madison's scoring runners earned berths to the regional with Julian Sample finishing 21st in 18:15.1, Luke McCarty running 35th in 18:58.3, and Jacob Howell 37th in 19:08.1. The rest of Madison's finishes were: Trevor Hoffman, 53rd, 21:21.2; George Cosby, 58th, 21:01.5; Neel Mistry, 61st, 22:00.3; and Trenton Stockdale, 64th, 22:45.8.

Switzerland County's Julio Regueira Prats was 24th in 18:25.7 and earned a trip to regional. Nathan Furnish ran 38th in 19:10.1 and missed a regional berth by one position while Zack Stout was 72nd in 27:58.7.

Trapper Johnson ran 48th in 19:42.1 to lead Shawe while Wyatt Lundergan was 54th in 20:33.7 and Noah Guetig was 68th in 26:37.3.

Charlestown won the girls race with 42 points while Jennings County was second with 67 and Silver Creek ran third with 93. Madison finisherd fourth with 98 points and Austin was fifth with 112 as both earned regional berths. Southwestern ran sixth with 158, Switzerland County was ninth with 194 and Shawe did not field a complete team.

Brett Cahall led Madison with a 10th-place finish in 21:33.0. Other finishes for the Cubs were: Clare Wilber, 17th, 22:12.6; Chloe Ferris, 22nd, 22:47.3; Isabel Wilber, 26th, 23:03.9; Anne Grady, 28th, 23:27.0; Kayla Dattilo, 48th, 25:31.7; and Kelsey Bilz, 59th, 27:28.9.

Southwestern had two runners qualify for regional with Kirsten Geary running 21st in 22:43.6 and Justice Kunze placing 29th in 23:39.2. Other finishes for the Rebels were: Hannah Sims, 34th, 23:44.9; Ashton Goode, 40th, 24:32.6; and Patricia Smith, 44th, 24:59.0.

Switzerland County also had two regional qualifiers with Grace White running 11th in 21:33.4 and Alisha Detmer 27th in 23:16.6. Other finishes for the Pacers were: Allison Detmer, 47th, 25:18.0; Ning Wang, 57th, 27:15.0; and Angela Graniere, 63rd, 36:42.0.

The IHSAA Regional will be held at Ceraland Park near Columbus at 10:30 a.m. on Saturday.

to score."

Wagner scored his second goal and Defranne added a goal to his two assists in the second half as Jac-Cen-Del continued to fire away. Koldo Templado added the third goal of the half for the eventual 5-0 final margin as the Eagles used the final 40 minutes to put up 16 shots including 10 on goal.

Southwestern was able to break free for seven shots in the second half and four shots on goal but could never find the back of the net. Dillman gave credit to Jac-Cen-Del's defense and said his offense was just overpowered on this particular day.

"We've played so well the last couple of weeks," Dillman said. "As far as touching the ball and playing a complete game, we've done really well and we had a chance at some good looks in the second half. It just wasn't our day."

Jac-Cen-Del finished with 35 shots and 16 shots on goal while also holding an 8-0 advantage on corner kicks. Southwestern ended with just 8 total shots and the 4 shots on goal in the second half. Brady McLain picked up 12 saves in the Rebel net.

Southwestern finishes the season with a 2-13-3 record but ended the year playing its best soccer of the season with both wins coming the final two weeks of play.

Despite losing five seniors, the Rebels are optimistic about the future.

"We considered this a building year and we have a lot of young talent coming up," Dillman noted. "We are getting better and that's what is important to us. Now it's about getting our younger guys accustomed to high school mode and go from there. We will be doing well the next few years."

KINDNESS MATTERS

MJHS students "Paint the Plow"

Left to right: Madison eighth graders Claire Slygh, Jasmine Mireles Nunez, Breona Brewer, Abigail Sorensen and Isabella Rhyne paint a snow plow for this year's Indiana Department of Transportation (INDOT) "Paint the Plow" Campaign. The plows will be used during the winter months and are meant to promote INDOT's winter operations.

Madison Jr. High was one of 26 schools statewide to participate in the Indiana Department of Transportation (INDOT) Paint the Plow contest this fall, choosing the theme "Kindness Matters is Our Motto at MJHS."

Natalie Garrett spokesperson for the INDOT Seymour District (INDOT Southeast) said the outreach program is meant to promote safety and awareness among young people and showcase INDOT's winter programs.

The theme is entirely up to the schools, she said, and the plow is provided by INDOT every year. The plows were dropped off around Labor Day. MJHS art teacher Eric Phagan said his students spent about two weeks working on the project.

The Seymour District will post pictures of the plows to its social media pages and ask followers to vote their favorites in November, Garrett said.

The finished product: "Kindness Matters at MJHS.

Isabella Rhyne makes her mark on the snow plow painted by Eric Phagan's eighth grade art students for the INDOT "Paint the Plow" project. The artwork is meant to resemble that of Keith Haring, an influencial New York street artist in the 1980s, Phagan said.

Dayton Goins (left) and Abigail Sorenson paint the heart in the middle of the snow plow, which later had "MJHS" in the middle.

Not very neighborly when it comes to neighbor's big tree

Annie Lane

Dear Annie: My neighbor has a huge tree growing squarely in the middle of her yard. The tree is so big that a limb crashed down and broke part of a fence I share with another neighbor. I was left with the repair and the cleanup. When I mentioned this situation and my safety concern to the neighbor with the tree, she responded, "Whatever falls onto your property is not my responsibility." My understanding is that I have a right to prune branches that might overhang my property, but is it my obligation to hire a company, scale the tree and have it pruned? Isn't it the homeowner's responsibility to maintain this massive tree and have it properly pruned so as not to endanger the well-being and property of a neighbor? — "Arboring" a Grudge

Dear "Arboring" a Grudge: It sounds like your neighbor is not acting very neighborly. She is lucky that the limb only harmed the fence and not a person or animal. While she might be correct that it is not her technical responsibility, it should be her moral responsibility to help you with your fence, especially because it was her tree that caused the damage. Perhaps you live in an association where you can speak with the head about the dangers of that tree. Sadly, if the tree is 100% on your neighbor's lawn, it is her right to do with the tree what she wants. The only thing you have the right to do is trim the leaves that hang onto your property.

Dear Annie: I feel compelled to answer the gentleman who is anxious about aging. As a woman who is 76 years young, I would like to give him a pep talk about growing old. After going through breast cancer, losing my best friend and my husband, and having my daughter diagnosed with (and cured of, thankfully) uterine cancer, I felt depressed, saddened and hopeless.

I made the decision to go for counseling, the best thing I could have done. I was urged to seek various community activities to pull myself out of my depression and anxiety.

At the suggestion of a close friend, I started to attend a local church, which led to my joining a charitable women's organization sponsored by the church. Next, I began attending our town council meetings and was asked to join a committee. Members who are much younger than I am voted to appoint me the secretary. I am a founding member of a nonprofit organization that is a mixture of senior citizens and younger people. My most recent involvement is volunteering two days a week with a program titled "Lunch Buddies." This entails sitting with an elementary school student who may need a little company at lunchtime.

The point I am trying to express is that the public sees you as you see yourself. If you present yourself as "over the hill," this is the perception that others will have, too. You can find activities in your community that will improve your self-worth. As for me, I view you as a younger senior citizen. Don't worry about the next 10 years; none of us could put a target date on our demise. Enjoy each day as precious, and get out there and enjoy it. — Enjoying My Golden Years

Dear Enjoying My Golden Years: Bravo! Truly, you have made lemonade out of some lemons. Seeing a counselor, while it can be scary at first, sounds like it motivated you to get out of your depression and anxiety. You now have a full and rich life. Congratulations and thank you for sharing your story. Each day is a gift, and receiving your positive letter made my day a little brighter.

"Ask Me Anything: A Year of Advice From Dear Annie" is out now! Annie Lane's debut book – featuring favorite columns on love, friendship, family and etiquette – is available as a paperback and e-book. Visit http://www.creatorspublishing.com for more information. Press Release To the Community of Madison

I would like to thank the caucus members and the Republican Party for unanimously electing me to fulfill the remaining term of Mayor Welch. The people of Madison mourn the passing of Mayor Welch, and Tammy and I join in that grief. Mayor Welch served this community well, and he will be missed. We wish Ginny and the Welch family only comfort and peace.

Although I never anticipated assuming the role of Mayor of the City of Madison prior to January 1, 2020, I am honored that the Republican Party felt that I am the right person to fulfill this obligation. As I assume this role of Mayor, I will honor Mayor Welch's legacy and not implement any of the major initiatives that are the foundation of my campaign. I will focus on the priorities Mayor Welch and his staff had in process and the many things we shared in common for our community. The Citizens of the City of Madison will choose the next person to lead the City of Madison into the future. I look forward to being elected Madison's next Mayor on November 5, 2019 and I will lead Madison to the next level. Please support me in all of these endeavors.

Thank you and God Bless our City during this challenging time.
